Week 10 Term 3

19th Sept, 2014

NEWSLETTER

Dear Parents,

This week brings to a close Term 3.

I was recently reading an article and thought it would be timely to share some of it as we approach the holidays. The main focus was about how downtime and boredom can be good for children. As a society we have become fearful of idle time and through our many devices, gadgets and toys, have “developed an expectation of being constantly occupied and constantly stimulated”. As a first response to idleness many of us reach out and turn on a screen. In fact, reaching out for a screen short circuits our ability to deal with boredom creatively, because we don’t know how learn to amuse ourselves.

Boredom breeds creativity as the agony of boredom can drive us to extend our mind and can lead to unexpected discoveries. It encourages not only a change of pace, but also an opportunity to discover things we don’t know about ourselves or the world. The more bored you get, the greater your capability for imagination. So, during these holidays don’t forget to schedule some ‘downtime’. Perhaps even try a technology free day and see what happens.

While on the subject of devices, gadgets and toys... a reminder to be vigilant in monitoring what your children view and send via email, the internet and social media. We are constantly reminding the students about their responsibilities in the appropriate use of technology and the dangers of it if not used correctly

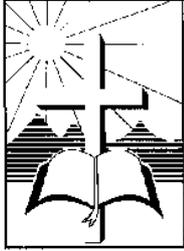

The parent calendar for Term 4 is attached. Please note that Monday 27th October has been set aside for a Staff Development Day and students do not attend on this day.

Have a great holiday

Gospel Reflection

Twenty-Fifth Sunday in Ordinary Time, Year A

A reading from the holy Gospel according to Matthew 20:1-16

Jesus said to Nicodemus:

Jesus said to his disciples: 'The kingdom of heaven is like a landowner going out at daybreak to hire workers for his vineyard. He made an agreement with the workers for one denarius a day, and sent them to his vineyard. Going out at about the third hour he saw others standing idle in the market place and said to them, "You go to my vineyard too and I will give you a fair wage." So they went. At about the sixth hour and again at about the ninth hour, he went out and did the same. Then at about the eleventh hour he went out and found more men standing round, and he said to them, "Why have you been standing here idle all day?" "Because no one has hired us" they answered. He said to them, "You go into my vineyard too." In the evening, the owner of the vineyard said to his bailiff, "Call the workers and pay them their wages, starting with the last arrivals and ending with the first." So those who were hired at about the eleventh hour came forward and received one denarius each. When the first came, they expected to get more, but they too received one denarius each. They took it, but grumbled at the landowner. "The men who came last" they said "have done only one hour, and you have treated them the same as us, though we have done a heavy day's work in all the heat." He answered one of them and said, "My friend, I am not being unjust to you; did we not agree on one denarius? Take your earnings and go. I choose to pay the last-comer as much as I pay you. Have I no right to do what I like with my own? Why be envious because I am generous?" Thus the last will be first, and the first, last.'

On the surface, the parable of the workers in the vineyard appears to be an offense to common sense. Those who work a longer day ought to be paid more than those who work just an hour or two. When viewed in this way, the landowner seems unfair. That is because we are reading into the parable our own preconceived notions of how fairness and equality should be quantified. The parable reminds us that although God owes us nothing, he offers abundantly and equally. We are occasionally tempted to think that our own actions deserve more reward, more of God's abundant mercy, than the actions of others.

This Weekend with your Children...

The workers in this parable sound very much like squabbling children, comparing what they have each been given and making complaints to the parent. Among children there is a tendency to equate love with gifts and material things. Any effort we make to overcome this tendency, to keep love from being entwined with gifts and possessions, will enable our children to accept completely the love that God gives freely and generously.

Have a wonderful two weeks! See you next term,
Mr Andrew Baker ☺

Family Sacred Space.

In the office foyer, we have a display cabinet of which two shelves are devoted to prayer. This is an invitation to OLA families to 'sponsor' this sacred space. This means that each week, one school family is responsible for decorating this space with some small items of their choice and relevant to them. There is one small shelf and nothing elaborate is expected. This is an initiative to bring community prayer to the fore in our school and to make it more personal and meaningful. I or someone else at school will be happy to assist you if needed. If you are interested in participating, we look forward to receiving an email from you to ola@parra.catholic.edu.au with Family Prayer Space in the subject line. Thank you to the Scoulou Family for sponsoring this week. Next week the sponsor family will be the Gannon Family.

A reminder that morning supervision begins at 8.20am. Children should not be left at school prior to this time.

Late Arrivals/Early Leavers

Whilst sometimes it is unavoidable, it is really important that wherever possible appointments are made out of school time to ensure uninterrupted and consistent learning time is maintained. All partial absences are recorded on the class roll which is a legal document. School hours are from 8.50am to 3.10pm.

Skoolbag App

Please look out for a letter attached to this newsletter about this new app that we will be using as an additional form of instant communication.

Hair

As the holidays is a time when many students get their hair cut, please keep in mind that hairstyles should be appropriate (no severe shaving or designs within the haircut). Long hair must be tied back at all times and the correct school colour accessories.

Kindergarten W Week 10

In kinder we have been learning about 'Places we Know' and 'What's Alive' in those places. As part of our Creative Arts lesson this week the children completed a directed drawing of under the sea.

The children did such a great job and they loved it!
Check out some of their fabulous work below 😊
